Foreword

FOR some reason, cartoonists and humorous publications delight in featuring insects in their cartoons and jokes. Before the introduction of Flit, they used the ancient fly swatter as the familiar killing weapon. Now the Flit sprayer is widely used and has supplanted the fly swatter as the modern method.

Hence this reproduction of a series of Flit "Funnies" which have appeared from time to time in magazines and newspapers.

The stage has followed the publishers, and the Flit sprayer has replaced the old slap-stick and introduced a new type of humor. Numerous comedians and night club entertainers are taking advantage of Flit's popularity by building comic situations around the Flit Sprayer.

THEATRICAL NOTE

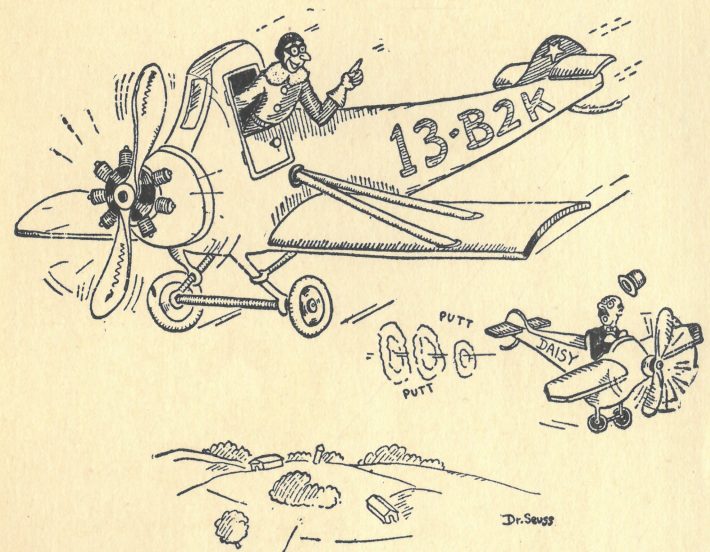

After a very unfortunate experience with a mosquito in a New Jersey playhouse, the Five Strongarm Brothers have enlarged their troupe to the extent of one Flit-gun sharpshooter.

*"Why, you little insect, you know what I'd like to do to you?"
"Yeh, I know. But ya can't—'cause I've hidden the Flit."*

CADDIE—"Your niblick, sir?"
 BOGGED GOLFER—"Niblick, hell! What a man needs in this mosquito hole is Flit."

PILOT OF THE BIG ONE—"Be careful where you go with that bug of yours, brother. They kill things like that with Flit!"
